Fund Information

Fund Manager Comment

In August, the largest contributors to positive performance were Fabrinet (+32.0%), Arista (+27.8%), and Alphabet (+4.2%) while the largest detractors from performance were Super Micro Computer (SMCI) (-15.4%), Tower Semiconductor (-20.2%), and Teradata (-17.4%). Fabrinet and Arista continue to demonstrate their differentiated offerings. Fabrinet is a leading manufacturer of precision optical and electro-optical systems and Arista is a leader in the networking market. Both are well-placed to benefit from the growth in Cloud and AI systems. SMCI, Tower Semiconductor and Teradata all reported solid results in August. Tower Semiconductor shares suffered in August as Intel was forced to abandon its takeover of the company as Chinese regulators did not agree to approve the takeover. All three companies are well positioned in their respective markets to generate sustainable revenue growth with scope for margin expansion as well.
